Friday, September 6th, 2013
4:00-5:00 PM (talk starts at 4:15 pm)
Bioethics Research Library (Healy 102)

So What Is It That You Do As A Clinical Ethicist? Clinical Ethics as a Subset of Bioethics

Featuring Nneka O. Mokwunye, PhD
Director, Center for Ethics, MedStar Washington Hospital Center

The role of ethics, specifically clinical ethics, as a clinical sub-specialty is considered a new concept in modern medicine. The discipline of ethics within medicine, however, is not. This talk will discuss a brief history on ethics and how it relates to the modern medical world, including case discussions.

Big Ideas in Bioethics is a speaker series sponsored by the Kennedy Institute of Ethics and the Bioethics Research Library that aims to expose students and the Georgetown community to expert knowledge and opinion on a variety of ethical issues and to promote discussion. Students can also learn about a variety of careers related to bioethics. All are invited. Refreshments will be served.